1. The GARZ (N 54/4 20) airfield, located between the "Haff" and a ridge, has an about 2,500-foot runway running parallel to the shore. Three hangars and two stone buildings, as far as could be seen, were available at the field. 25X1X

2. Intensive flying, mostly local flying, was done between 6 and 11 a.m. on 16 August 1949. Besides a biplane and a speedy fighter, most of the aircraft observed were two-seater monoplanes, low-wings with rounded off wing tips and in-line engine.

3. During two hours of observation ten outbound and five inbound motor vehicles [REDACTED] 25X1C

[REDACTED] were observed at the airfield entrance. [REDACTED] 25X1C

[REDACTED] The airfield was occupied by Soviet Air Force and Navy units.

25X1A Comment: The GARZ airfield was not previously known to be occupied. Previous reports gave reason to believe that the airfield is assigned to the Soviet Naval Air Force, Baltic Sea Fleet. According to this report, it must be assumed that either a training unit for fighter pilots or a ground attack unit is stationed at the GARZ airfield. [REDACTED] 25X1C
